

CHILDREN'S WORLD
(Stéphane LEBOURG – Thierry LEBOURG)

Whatever we believe in
Whoever we idealize
Wherever we're going
However we win a prize

I'm not sure to understand
The world you brought with you on earth
You just need to show your hands
And I can recall my own birth

Oh, sure, we speak the same language
'Cause we must get on together
But in your smile, in your language
I see what I've lost forever

You have no ideology
No aim to reach, you're just living
You only got friends, no ennemy
When you play, life's not boring

Ref.: Your world is true, your world is genuine
Because you are the way you are

The earth is pretty rotten
Destroyed nature, torn to the roots
Because we all have forgotten
That we've just borrowed it from you

Let's go hand in hand and try again
To find a way to get along
You with your dreams, we with our brains
You gotta know, the way is long
