

Miss my home

(Stephane LEBOURG)

I played it solo for a while
Just to find another kind
So different since my mentor died
I changed my mind
I was so jealous I could die
Devoted, black and blind
So different since, my love, you lied
I walked the line
I decided to go
And live another way
To find another "me"
I did it in may
So believe me

I miss my home
And now I'm coming back to you
I miss my home

Time has come for me to come back
At the right place at the right moment
Whatever they think I'm not a coward
I changed my mind
Did you find another guy
I think about it everyday
Don't apologise I'm back to stay
So believe me

I'm sure you will appreciate
My world, my life
The doctor told me it's not too late
So let's have another try
